Dear Friends,

I am pleased to report that 2024 was a year of joyful momentum at the Frye. The museum pulsed with creative energy—across our galleries, programs, partnerships, and into our surrounding community. At every turn, we leaned into what makes the Frye distinct: the opportunity to engage deeply with living artists, to experiment with the unique legacy of our modern and contemporary collection, and to offer these experiences freely to all.

Our 2024 exhibitions spanned a remarkable range of voices and visions. We welcomed solo presentations from internationally recognized artists like Sky Hopinka, Hayv Kahraman, and Stephanie Syjuco, whose powerful works examined identity, representation, and systems of image-making. We deepened our commitment to intergenerational and intercultural dialogue, with Twilight Child: Antonia Kuo and Martin Wong exploring artistic resonances across time. And we continued championing our region's creative brilliance with shows by Jessica Jackson Hutchins, Natalie Krick, Mary Ann Peters, and Samantha Wall—whose work demonstrates that the Pacific Northwest is not just part of the conversation, but shaping it.

The experience of visiting our beloved Frye Salon became even richer with the launch of the museum's first ever digital guide. Now, you can take deeper dives into the history of selected works or hear directly from staff about the behind-the-scenes work of creating the floor-to-ceiling display. We take serious pleasure in our mandate to continue engaging, reframing, and spotlighting the works that comprise our Founding Collection. We also celebrated the addition of powerful contemporary works to the collection by artists who call the Northwest home, including Marita Dingus, Fay Jones, Rafael Soldi, and many others. These acquisitions reflect a more expansive narrative of art history—one that continues to evolve through the perspectives of living artists.

Off the walls, the museum buzzed with creative innovation. We expanded our guided-visit offerings to include Family Field Trips, where intergenerational groups can explore and create together. Our Creative Aging program flourished, and initiatives like Art + Medicine and Mindfulness Meditation continued connecting art to wellbeing. We even ventured beyond our museum campus to meet communities new to us, hosting art making stations at farmers markets across South Seattle. In the fall, we had the special honor of convening Ripple Effect: Northwest Contemporary Art Then and Now, a lecture series that explored the evolution of our region's art scene. Featuring conversations with artists and gallerists, the series delved into the rich history and lively present of Pacific Northwest art.

We were delighted to expand our Thursday evening hours, staying open until 8 pm weekly beginning November 1, with enriching public programs and what we're told is the city's best happy hour at MariPili at Café Frieda. These evenings turned the museum into a gathering place for curiosity, connection, and maybe even a plate of patatas bravas.

Reaching a significant milestone, we launched the first iteration of our Salon Series comprising the delectable Salon Supper and the dazzling Salon Soiree. These unique fundraising—and friend-raising—events combined culinary artistry, live music, and immersive art experiences in support of the Frye's mission as Seattle's free art museum. The vision guiding these events shines a glowing light on our aspirations to be the city's most dynamic, welcoming, and artist-centric museum.

All of this was made possible through the generosity of our members, donors, and institutional partners. Your support enables us to keep this museum open, vibrant, and truly public. For that, we are deeply grateful.

To our staff, board, volunteers, teaching artists, collaborators, and the many culture workers who lend their time and brilliance: thank you. And to our visitors—whether you came for an exhibition, a lecture, a locally made treasure from the Store, or a café con leche—we're so glad you were here. Together, we're creating something remarkable.

With appreciation and excitement for what's to come,

Jamilee Lacy

In 2024, the Frye welcomed twenty artworks by sixteen artists—nearly all hailing from the Pacific Northwest—into the collection. Many were featured prominently in exhibitions over the last few years, demonstrating our ongoing efforts to champion the creative legacies of presenting artists. The new collection works represent a wide range of artistic production from 1989-2024, including painting, photography, prints and drawing, sculpture, glass, and video, and all put a contemporary spin on familiar subjects or forms of art.
